Remains of sixteen temples, Adibadri, District- Chamoli

Brief history of the monument:

Area: 0.0577 Hectare

Adibadri Group of Temples also known as Adibadridham. The site is located on the hill slope on the right bank of a local stream Atagad which is a tributary of river Pindar.

Main temple is dedicated to Lord Vishnu. There were 16 temples earlier but presently only 14 temples exist.

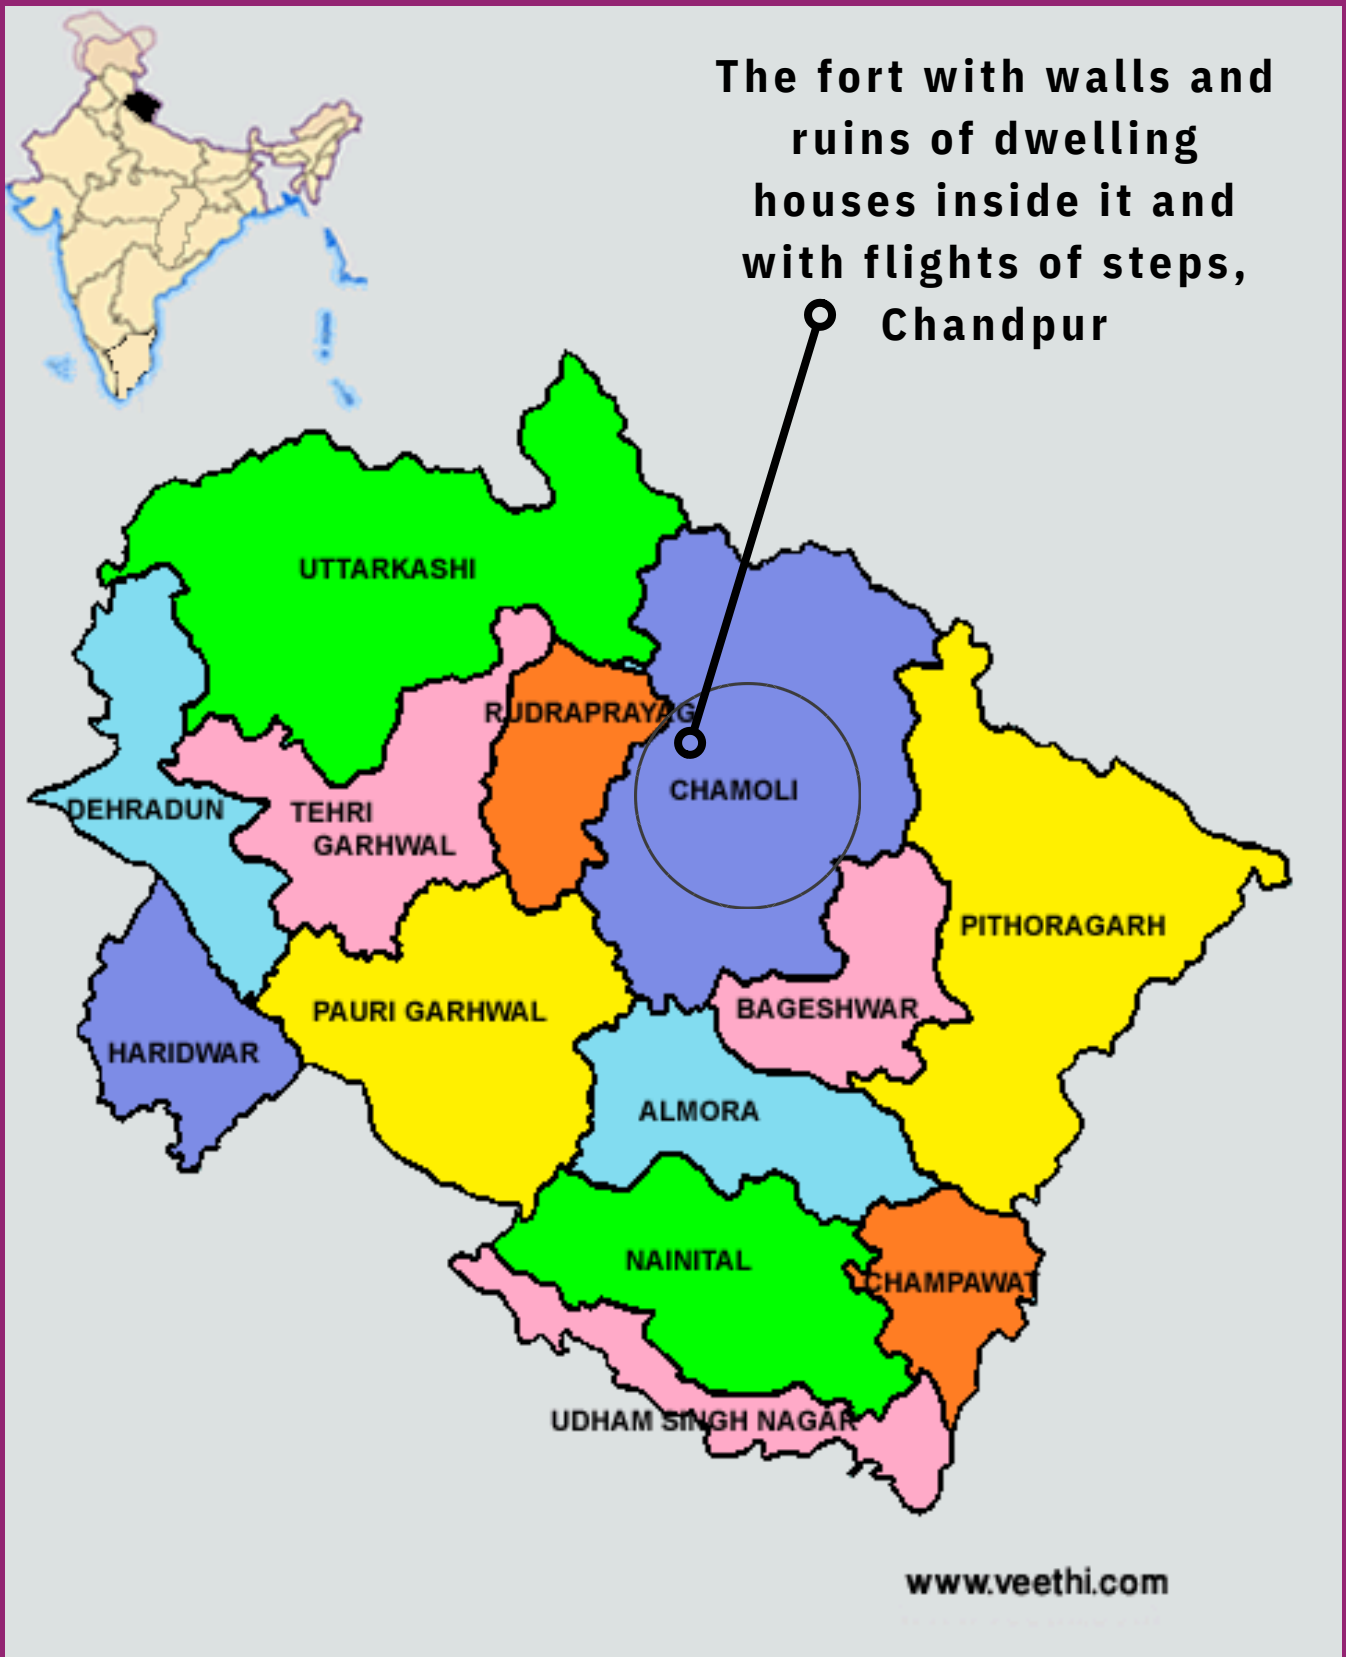

Adibadri is one of the five Badries viz Adibadri, Dhyanbadri, Yogabadri, Bhavishatbadri and Vishalbadri (Badrinath). On the basis of architectural features it can be dated between circa 8th – 12th cent. CE.

The fort with walls and ruins of dwelling houses inside it and with flights of steps, Chandpur , District- Chamoli

Protected Area 0.1618 Hectare and Brief history of the monomunt
